

Dr Sarah BOUKRI

Board Member of the Moroccan Institute for International Relations (IMRI)

Sarah Boukri is a consultant in political affairs. She is a Political sciences doctor graduated from the Jean-Moulin Lyon 3 University, France. Her doctoral thesis addressed the Motivations for Morocco's membership in the French-speaking geo-cultural area and her master's thesis focused on "mental map and construction of perceptions: case of the perception of the Western Sahara conflict". For five years, Sarah was a visiting professor in the Jean-Moulin Lyon 3 University. Sarah has several academic publications.

She is also a Board Member of IMRI (Moroccan Institute for International Relations), an active member of the Moroccan Association for Development in Africa and a member (expert) of the New Med Research Network Contact Group.